New frameworks, tools, and coaching can be directly transferable in the workplace.

Online courses consists of three 2.5 hour sessions with additional self-paced work in an online format. Any or all of the courses may be taken in any order.

WHY ARE THESE COURSES FOR YOU?

This one-of-a-kind series of courses was designed by and for health and safety professionals, in partnership with leadership and change management experts.

With today's evolving landscape, environmental health and safety leaders are looking for new ways to go beyond developing technical abilities and focus more on motivating themselves and others to act as "change agents" for reducing worker illnesses and injuries in their organizations.

MEET YOUR PROFESSIONAL LEADERSHIP COACH

Molly Breysse Cox, MA, PhD, University of Washington Foster School of Business, Center for Leadership and Strategic Thinking (CLST)

Dr. Breysse Cox has over 25 years of change management work experience with Fortune 500 companies. This includes leadership positions in IT, Operations, Customer Service, Product Management, and Marketing. She joined the CLST team in 2014 as a Leadership Development Coach and Instructor for MGMT 300 in the UW Foster School of Business. Dr. Breysse Cox has experience in transformational change projects, including designing and deploying new technology, organizational change, and leadership development. Her work is focused on fostering safety and psychological safety in education and the workplace. In 2008, she was chosen as the recipient of Women in Technology International's Leadership Award for leadership in support of women in IT.

"Now is the perfect time for developing additional leadership skills. The assessments I took during the course allowed me to gain a 360° perspective and contrast how others saw me compared to how I viewed myself. Taking time to discuss with others and reflect upon the building blocks that got me where I am, allowed me to gain insights on what I may need and/or choose to work on to move forward. This has made me more intentional not only in my own professional development, but how I interact, motivate, and develop others."

—Ann Lindsey, Transformational Leadership Academy development committee member and participant in pilot transformational leadership training
