

OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH
CONTINUING EDUCATION
ENVIRONMENTAL & OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH SCIENCES

Washington State Governor's Industrial Safety and Health Preconference Training

Immerse yourself in an optional in-depth learning experience taught by industry experts from the Northwest Occupational Health and Safety Continuing Education and Outreach Programs. Lunch is included in the cost of registration.

In-Person—TUESDAY,
SEPTEMBER 24, 2024

Early Bird Registration
(through 08/30): $225

Advancing Leadership & Communication for Change Management

Instructor: Molly Breyse Cox, MA, PhD

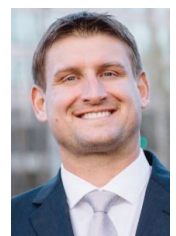

We are experiencing a rapidly changing workplace. New technology applications, work dynamics, team interactions, staff changes, and much more are challenging the way we work together. As a health and safety professional, your needs for effectively managing this change are complex. This course will provide strategies to help you work with clients, employees, and organizations that are not ready for or are resistant to change. You'll also build on your network of peers as you share real experiences and challenges. This includes discussions designed to challenge your assumptions and to provide specific ways of thinking that you can employ when addressing real-life interactions.

Best Practices for Protecting Workers During Trenching

Instructor: Rhett Carpenter, CHST

Excavation and trenching activities expose workers to various hazards such as cave-ins, falling objectives, hazardous atmospheres, and moving equipment. Implementing a comprehensive safety plan is essential to protecting workers during these activities. Regular training that includes information on hazard recognition, proper use of protective systems, emergency procedures and the importance of communication on the job site are key elements in protecting workers during trenching and excavation operations. This course will provide an introduction to the best practices used to reduce risks associated with trenching and excavation hazards.

REGISTRATION & INFORMATION Washington State Governor's Industrial Safety and Health Annual Conference

<https://na.eventscloud.com/website/73166/pre-conference-training/>

NORTHWEST CENTER FOR OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

Certificate for CEUs upon request

photo: iStockphoto.com: SeventyFour, MF3d, photovs